New Castle's industrial horizon brightened today when an announcement came that this district is "definitely assured" of a new industrial enterprise with a potential yearly payroll of almost $200,000.

Speaking for the Garland Manufacturing Company, Robert M. Garland disclosed here this morning that the Keystone Furniture Company of Pittsburgh, now employing 60 persons, will take a five-year lease on that building formerly occupied as the Garland silk mill at West Pittsburgh as its future quarters for upholstering living room furniture.

The West Pittsburgh plant should be occupied about the middle of October.

Negotiations completing the deal whereby the Pittsburgh firm will acquire the building with its 50,000 square feet of operating space are to be carried out in Pittsburgh Monday morning, Garland said.

The formal announcement came as welcome news to the entire New Castle community. It meant that

We are beginning to miss the birds that have brightened our lives with their sweet songs during the summer. Except for the starlings, who made a great fuss while packing their luggage, most of the feathered tribe departed as quietly as the fabled Arab, who folded his tent and silently stole away. We say the birds have gone south, but how do they know to fly south, instead of north east or west?

One of the best places to study the effect of reckless or careless driving is in one of our automobile graveyards. Here you will see the terrible consequences of collisions, so far as material damage is concerned. Radiators and engines smashed, sides caved in, glass shattered, and frames twisted and bent into a mass of worthless scrap. Yes, an auto graveyard is a good place to sit down to do a little quiet meditation.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast. Over in Butler the real estate men are going to form a fraternal organization, "to bind the real estate interests in the spirit of co-operation, and promote good will for their mutual welfare." A very laudable purpose, you say, if you have never seen a real estate organization function. Wait until several realtors get the same prospect on the string and see what happens.

It won't be long now until we will be talking about Christmas. Pa. New has just had a message from Santa Claus in which he says that he has many surprises in store for good little girls and boys. He has been working hard during the summer months keeping his toy factory on double turn most of the season.

Soviet Claims To Have
Proof Of 'Piracy' ChargesBy KINGSEURY SMITH

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Soviet government has notified France it is in possession of "documentary evidence" that Italy is responsible for piracy in the Mediterranean. International News Service learned exclusively today.

The "evidence" is in the form of photo-copies of orders allegedly issued by the Italian ministry of marine to submarine commanders to sink on sight any Soviet steamers bound for Spain.

The French government was informed that Soviet secret service agents had succeeded in obtaining the photo-copies.

As yet, the Soviets have not produced them for inspection by the powers concerned in stemming piracy in the Mediterranean but presumably are willing to do so on demand.

President To Carry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Flying the banner of "no retreat," President Roosevelt set himself today to go before the voters from coast to coast and renew his declaration of war against those "who would shivel the Constitution into a lawyer's contract."

Next Wednesday he will embark on a swing to the Pacific coast to personally carry the word that there is nothing in the founding document which gives the supreme court "any power to declare legislation unconstitutional," nor any mention of the number of justices who should sit on the high tribunal.

Speaks Before 65,000

Before 65,000 people jammed around the base of the Washington monument the President keynoted his forthcoming tour of the country in a characteristically bold Constitution Day speech reminiscent of his most vigorous utterances during last year's presidential campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt avoided all reference to the current upsurge being raised over charges that his first supreme court appointee, Alabama's Hugo Black, was a Klansman.

He is committed to "no further comment" until Justice Black returns from Europe and has an opportunity to be heard.

MAN WILL PRESIDE

The First Synod of the West, largest in the entire United Presbyterian denomination, will convene in the Third U. P. church of New Castle Monday night and will continue in session all day Tuesday and throughout Wednesday morning.

This eightieth annual session will bring to New Castle clergymen and lay delegates from 180 United Presbyterian churches located over a huge territory reaching from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, north to Buffalo, and embracing the larger portion of Western Pennsylvania. The total number of communicants in the synod is close to 60,000.

Three Hundred Expected

It is estimated that the accredited delegates to the meeting here will number around the 300 mark. They will come from Mercer, Beaver Valley, Butler, Lake Caledonia, Allegheny and Cleveland synods.

Rev. J. Ralph Neale, D.D., of New Wilmington, moderator of the synod, will open the first session at 7:30 o'clock Monday night. With the election later in the evening, a new moderator will take the chair.

Several prominent ministers have been secured as guest speakers, among them two nationally known Methodists, Rev. Merton S. Rice, D.D., of Detroit, Mich., and Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, D.D., of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Rice will speak Monday night, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon at 4:20, and Tuesday night. Bishop Leonard will speak Wednesday morning at 10:45.

These addresses will be open to the public.

Numerous large cities are included in the First Synod of the West, among them Cleveland and Buffalo. Northside Pittsburgh is also in this synod.

(International News Service)
GENEV, Sept. 18.—Warships and airplanes seeking the Mediterranean against "pirates" must attack—not merely arrest—planes, submarines or warships which attack neutral merchant shipping on the high seas.

This was revealed today with publication of the supplementary accord reached at the nine-nation Nyon conference, at which the Anglo-French Mediterranean anti-pirate patrol was arranged.

Under terms of the supplementary accord, which provides for aerial cooperation in the Mediterranean patrol, any merchantman attacked by a "phantom submarine" warship of airplane will send out an SOS.

The first "police" craft or plane to arrive will immediately engage the attacker in battle. This will be done automatically.

It was stipulated, however, that treatment of "pirates" in the territorial waters of various nations was a matter left to the discretion of those countries.

Plans for a proposed addition and changes in the arrangement of offices at the Lawrence county court house were explained to Judges James A. Chambers and W. The plans were those approved by the grand jury this week. Starting at the front of the court house the proposal to make a room for the county commissioners and additional room for the county treasurer, from the west end of the corridor were explained.

Provisions Of Plans

The room which could be provided for the commissioners would be about 20x14 feet, while a floor space of approximately 9x20 feet could be added to the county treasurer's office (Continued On Page Two)

Presbyterian Moderator
Speaks At Meetings Here

Over 150 men from 25 of the 28 Presbyterian churches of the Shenango presbytery honored Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, eminent moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, when he came here last night to speak before the annual fellowship banquet of laymen and ministers of Shenango presbytery.

After speaking in the dining hall of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. Foulkes, now the pastor of the Old First church of Newark, N. J., delivered a stirring message to a public audience in the auditorium of the church.

The head of the great Presbyterian denomination came to New Castle from Elkhart, Ind., and left after the second address for his Newark home.

Officers were elected today by the Pennsylvania League of Building and Loan associations as the delegates prepared to wind up the business of the convention and adjourn this afternoon.

William Reinhardt, of Philadelphia, was named president, James J. O'Malley, of Wilkes-Barre, first vice president, and John P. Volk of Pittsburgh, second vice president. George W. Cliffe of Philadelphia, who has been the secretary and treasurer of the association for many years, was re-elected as was Joseph H. Sundheim of Philadelphia, counsel.

Four Speakers.

Four speakers addressed the convention at the morning session today. Thomas E. Pemberton of the Peoples Savings association of Toledo, O., spoke on "Management and Handling of Real Estate Owned". Out of a wide experience he drew a number of cases in point as to proper management and left with the delegates some worth while ideas.

R. H. Furner, resident manager of the Maryland Casualty company of Pittsburgh, quoted some startling accident figures in his address on "Adequate Insurance Coverage for Building and Loan Associations in Pennsylvania." Mr. Furner reminded the delegates that all too many associations took out their staffs, not only a violation of the law but too often a costly savings of money. In 1936 he said there were 38,500 fatal accidents in homes as against a lower figure, 37,800, on highways. In Pennsylvania alone in 1936 there were 33 accidental deaths in offices and a large number of serious accidents. He suggested the types of insurance building and loan associations should carry.

There was a light frost noted in sections of the county this morning, but it failed to cause any material damage, due in part to the fact that a heavy fog set in early in the morning, protecting the vegetation.

The minimum temperature at the United States weather observing station was noted at 34 degrees, two degrees above the freezing mark.

Last fall, the first killing frost did not occur until October 5, and gardeners are hoping that similar weather conditions will occur this fall.

By train, motor car, plane and even ocean liner thousands of the veterans who fought under General John J. "Black Jack" Pershing poured into town for the nineteenth annual legion convention opening tomorrow night with religious and patriotic ceremonies at Madison Square Garden.

PEIPING, Sept. 18.—With the threat of loosened flood waters added to the ordinary risks of warfare, Japanese troops pressed forward in their sweeping drive through North China today.

Japanese military headquarters here announced steady progress for their troops in spite of the fact that Chinese forces in a desperate effort to save 50,000 of their number from annihilation, broke the banks of rivers and canals southwest of Peiping.

Their object was to stem the advance of Nipponese regiments marching on four divisions of Chinese soldiers trapped between Liang-shang and Chochow, approximately 40 miles southwest of this city.

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, Sept. 18.—Four hundred Spanish loyalist militiamen were killed and 200 were taken prisoner in a furious battle on the Asturias front today according to a rebel communique from Salamanca.

The rebels captured several villages as they swept government forces back before their onslaught, the announcement claimed.

On the Leon front, the insurgents claimed they had captured Mount Pajares, bringing a nearby section of the important Oviedo-Gijon highway under their fire.

Reports from Madrid said the rebels launched two attacks under cover of darkness near the river Corbe north of Guadalajara, hand grenades and machine-gunning loyalist positions. Loyalist forces repelled the assaults, however, the government reports said.

Three insurgent attacks on Mazuco on the Biscay front, launched in an effort to break the government lines southwest of Llanes, were turned back. The famous arms factory in the town of Trubia, near Oviedo, was heavily shelled by insurgent artillery.

JUDGES CONSIDER PROPOSED PLANS AT COURT HOUSE

At present there is a vault in the county treasurer's office which is divided, one part being used by the county commissioners.

It is proposed to change the county commissioners' office so that the greater part of the vault could be thrown into the county treasurer's office. The present outer office of the county commissioners would be used by the county controller and he would not need so much vault room as the commissioners now use. It is estimated that fully two-thirds of the vault could be turned over to the county treasurer.

Changes Proposed

Under the proposed plans the rooms which are now used by county commissioners would be used by the sheriff. A door would be cut through the east wall, making an outside entrance on the side next to the sheriff's residence. The sheriff would be provided with a private office which he does not now have.

The county commissioners' office would be changed to the section now used by the sheriff. There is a room attached to the prothonotary's office which would be taken over for the use of the commissioners' office.

The prothonotary's office would be enlarged by a new addition built in the "U" shaped space between the east wall of the register and recorder's office and the west projection of the prothonotary's office. In addition there would be a vault for the prothonotary's records under this entire new section. It would be reached by an open stairway from the prothonotary's office, and would be damp proof. It would be used principally for the storage of records that are little used, but which must be kept, where they can be found when wanted. There would be no change in the register and recorder's office.

On Second Floor

On the second floor there would be no changes in the court rooms, but changes would be made in the arrangement of the jury rooms and offices used by the judges. In jury room No. 1 a balcony arrangement would be put in to provide more room. The judges' offices, and those for the district attorney would be moved to the south side of the corridor. The law library would take the second floor of the new part which is to be built for the prothonotary's office.

When it came to an explanation of the private offices for the judges, Judge Brahman did not like the arrangement, as the office as provided did not enter directly into court room as does the present office. Architect Wirsing was asked if there could not be some other arrangement, and said it could be done. He will present another sketch. The court took the plans for further study.

PA NEW OBSERVES

There will be some wonderful new toys this year in the line of radios, airplanes, and moving picture machines.

Pa Newc is told by a resident of Walmo that the thermometer got down 28 above zero, about 6 o'clock this morning. A lot of damage was done to flowers, it was reported.

West Pittsburgh is all set for a big comeback. With the huge power plant of the Pennsylvania Power company being erected there, and with today's announcement of a new industry to be located in a Garland plant, things will be looking up for that section.

Pa Newc has heard a good many people complain that they have been unable to get good roasting ears this season. This seems strange in view of the fact that this has been a wonderful summer for corn. The sweet corn seemed to grow so fast that the greater part of it was too hard when pulled. Too many people seem to plant corn that develops big ears. Big ears are all right on a table, but we prefer yellow bantam when it comes to corn.

Our merchants seem to anticipate a good fall trade, judging from the elaborate window displays in some of our stores. A glimpse inside shows stocked shelves and show cases with corps of pleasant clerks ready to greet prospective customers. Cool weather during the past few days has helped fall trade to a good start. From now until Christmas is the merchant's busy season and you will be able to get anything you want right here in New Castle.

Pa Newc saw a little girl yesterday whose heart was broken because her pet cat had died. The cat had been her constant companion. She had played with it and talked to it from morning to night, and its passing was to her a real sorrow. Many an older person is saddened by the death of a household pet, a dog or a cat, that has been in the home for many years. And pet animals have a place in our lives. You can always depend on their undying devotion, when human friends prove false and fickle.

Several strikes among pupils are noted in school throughout the state since the opening of the school season. The latest is down at Clarksburg in Green county where children, in the primary grade walked out because the board had dismissed a teacher they loved. We don't know anything about the merits of this particular case, but we can imagine what would have happened if pupils had walked out on a teacher when grandpa went to school.

Considerable auto traffic going through this city these days is bound for New York, and the cars are carrying members of the American Legion enroute to the national convention. One car that went through the city last night, with a cow bell ringing, was marked "Flanders Field Post, American Legion, South Bend, Ind."

Among the streets on the North Hill now in the process of being paved is Meyer avenue. In the same neighborhood, work is being done on Northview and Edgewood avenues.

Another new traffic light is now reported in operation, that recently erected at the intersection of Ne-shannock avenue and North street.

State highway employees are doing some repair work on the paving on Highland avenue, preparatory to the arrival of winter.

Those who have never examined an oriole's nest close at hand cannot conceive of the remarkable ingenuity displayed by this little feathered friend in constructing its nest. There is one on display today at the office of The News which belongs to Paul Gilbert of 1302 Delaware avenue, and which was found when his trees were being trimmed the other day by Hugh Flynn of East Brook. It was thought that the nest was a tent caterpillar's home, and so care was not exercised in preserving the nest as carefully as possible. The nest is made from string, hair and fibre, woven together. Strings extend from the nest to surrounding twigs to hold it firmly in place and to keep it from swaying too much with the wind.

George Campbell, of East Washington street, recently returned from a fishing trip in the French Creek vicinity, reports catching a salmon which tipped the scales at seven and three-quarter pounds, dressed. Campbell's party also turned in a nice catch of bass.

PRESBYTERIAN MODERATOR IS SPEAKER HERE

ner to take his audience half way around the world to China to draw an impressive lesson of humility and good living from an outstanding physician and friend, Wen Pei Shen.

He told of Wen Pei Shen's great faith and how, when discouragement and disaster all about him, he had come triumphantly withstood a destructive typhoon.

Here Dr. Foulkes sounded a challenge to the men listening to him, a challenge "for you to have such a personal relation to God that when the typhoon of our lives comes, you and I will be able to stand up before it as Wen Pei Shen did." He said that some today are not pessimistic, but apprehensive, as to what lies ahead for us, and "that no one is good enough or wise enough to say what's going to happen to us as a country." And while some are apprehensive to the point of grief and agony, the moderator said, those with a strong personal faith are certain to stand up victoriously against whatever typhoon may come.

During the dinner hour the song service was led by Rev. Stevenson with Thomas H. Webber, Jr., at the piano.

Before the church assembly upstairs later, Dr. Foulkes spoke of the pressure of modern times and pointed to higher living. He told, briefly, too, about the great Presbyterian church.

Other Pastors Participate

Participating with President Mason in the auditorium service were Dr. S. A. Kirkbride, New Wilmington, who led the devotionals; Dr. J. McVaine, pastor of the host church; the Rev. Thomas G. Berger and the Rev. W. J. Holmes, both Shenango presbytery pastors.

Pastors and laymen of other local denominations were in the audience to hear Dr. Foulkes.

Officers of the fellowship organization besides Mr. Mason, the president, include J. S. Rowater, vice president; Harry G. Gibson, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Webber, director of music.

sleeping and furnace fires were the order of the day. Light frost was reported in a number of sections of the state.

Peasants Grid Fans

Fall doesn't start, officially, until next Thursday, September 23. Gridiron followers were scheduled for today. And football doesn't seem to go right until it's at least cool.

At Harrisburg, the temperature hovered between 40 and 45 degrees during the night, rising slightly under a bright sun early today.

In Pittsburgh a 62-year-old record for September 18 was shattered when the mercury zipped down to a chilling 35 at 6 a. m.

In Kaie, the "ice box of Pennsylvania," winter made an extra early debut yesterday as snow fell for a few brief minutes.

A heavy fog blanketed the greater portion of western Pennsylvania during the early morning hours and traffic was retarded by the thick mist in low-lying districts.

LEGION TAKING OVER NEW YORK

four-day convention, however, will be the legion's annual parade on Tuesday. It will last all day, and will be one of the most brilliant and impressive ever staged anywhere in the world.

By noon today fully 75,000 legionnaires—and their wives and children—had arrived, and their numbers were growing steadily. It was estimated that by tomorrow night nearly 500,000 convention visitors will be here.

The city, bedecked with flags and bunting, took on a colorful aspect and seemed to throb with new vitality. Every hotel was packed to capacity. Even in New York, the housing of so many legionnaires was somewhat of a problem.

Deaths of the Day

William E. Reed

William E. Reed, aged 85 years, a resident of Lawrence county all his life until April, 1921, passed away at his home in Ashland, Oregon, at 5:30 p. m. Friday, Pacific time, ending a long illness.

He was a descendant of the Iddings and Reed families, pioneers in Lawrence county, and it was on a farm in Shenango township that he was born on December 18, 1851, and reared. His parents were John C. and Phoebe Anne (Iddings) Reed.

All his life was passed in this county until in the spring of 1921 he and his family moved to Oregon. They left a host of friends behind them, all of whom are saddened by the news received last night.

He married Eliza Keller, who, with their two children, Lillian Reed Book of Durham, Cal., and Wesley Reed, at home, survives. There are also two grandchildren, James and Lavenia Book, of Durham, Cal., one sister, Mrs. W. H. Weinschenck and one brother, L. M. Reed, both of Shenango township, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Two brothers, Dr. Joseph Reed of Sharon and Dr. C. A. Reed of New Castle, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah J. Wright, of New Castle, preceded him in death.

Friends recall that Mr. Reed at one time taught school in Shenango township. He was a member of the Third United Presbyterian church of this city.

Funeral services and burial will take place Monday afternoon in Oregon.

Jesse Michaels Funeral

Services for the late Jesse Michaels were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Burke funeral home with Rev. E. J. Fredericks, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church in charge.

The pallbearers were Charles Wallace, Oscar Gettings, Harry Kerr, James Holsapfel, Jerry and Earl Jarrett. Interment was made in the United Presbyterian cemetery at East Brook.

Services for Walter V. Tyler

Funeral services for former Mayor Walter V. Tyler were held from his late residence at 744 Butler avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. G. S. Bennett, D. D., pastor of the First Christian church.

During the services James Bowman sang two pieces of hymns, "Lead Kindly Light," and "Some-time We'll Understand."

The many beautiful flowers filling the home and the large crowd who attended the funeral were evidence of the many friends of the deceased, and of the high esteem in which he was held in the community.

Honorary pallbearers were Sam McKee and Lou Schetrom. Active pallbearers were J. H. McQuiddy, Edward Hanna, William Vogan, Robert Clark, C. C. Green and John S. Pomeroy.

Interment was made in Castle View Burial park.

No Arrangements Made

No arrangements for the burial of John Rendak, 41, of Wampum who died in the Jameson Memorial hospital yesterday, have been made because relatives said to be living in Chicago have not been located as yet.

Mr. Rendak had no relatives in this section of the country. He came to Wampum six years ago to enter the employ of the American Cement and Tile Manufacturing company.

The body is at the Marshall funeral home, Wampum, pending word from Chicago.

Mrs. Paul J. Sittler

Mrs. Mary O. Sittler, aged 32 years, wife of Paul J. Sittler, of 912 Winslow avenue, died at 10 o'clock this morning of pneumonia in the New Castle hospital.

She had been a patient in the hospital for the past week and every effort was made by physicians to save her life. Her untimely passing is a sad blow to her family and many friends. She was a member of Bethany Lutheran church on the East Side.

Born in New Castle on September 2, 1905, she was a daughter of the late Richard and Minnie Daugherty McKissick. She leaves her husband, to whom she was married 15 years ago, their two children, Billy and Margaret, at home, and three brothers, Dorsey J. McKee, Frank W. McKee and Burns McKissick, all of New Castle.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Paul J. Tau, Bethany Lutheran minister in charge.

Mont McCConnell

Mont McCConnell, aged 56 years, of Mercer county, died at 9 o'clock Friday night after an illness lasting several months.

He was born in Lawrence county on June 24, 1881, son of Joseph and Harriet Hileman McCConnell. Most of his lifetime was passed in Mercer county where he was a miner. His wife, Catherine, died in October, 1934. Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Simon Breese of Leesburg.

Services will take place at the Cunningham funeral home in Leesburg at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and interment will be made in Carpenter cemetery.

CHINA AND THE LEAGUE

IT IS NOT to be expected, of course, that China will get very far with its appeal to the League of Nations. Geneva's failure to act during the previous Jap invasion, together with the hands-off policy toward Ethiopia, suggest anything but a vigorous move in the present case.

However, China is right in throwing the whole mess squarely in the lap of the League, even though aggressive support is not to be expected.

If, as is generally suspected, the League has become a total flop in the field of international adjudication, the sooner the world is made finally aware of the condition the better it will be for all concerned.

Meanwhile, it is just as well that America has consistently spurned League membership. There isn't much point in belonging to an agency that invariably refuses to carry out its avowed intentions.

AT LONG LAST

Persons familiar with the technique of counting noses say that the administration plan of "voluntary registration" of jobless citizens will leave us just as far from an accurate idea of the exact scope of unemployment as we ever were.

The Census Bureau at Washington, however, suggests that a little patience will bring the desired result. The regular decennial census will be taken in 1940. Then, according to the officers of this particular federal agency, we shall have scientifically procured figures showing precisely where we stand.

In some ways, that is encouraging news. Yet, the information will have been obtained about 10 years after it might have been a useful guide to relief appropriations.

If business and industry continue at their present rate of improvement, the statistics promised by the Census Bureau will be about as valuable as the proverbial snowshoe in Cuba.

U. S. TRADE BALANCES

The news that the trade balance of the United States bids fair to be "unfavorable" for the year 1937, for the first time in 44 years, is more than vaguely disquieting. The trade balance, of course, means that the ratio of products of foreign countries brought into this country and sold, to the products of the United States, taken to foreign nations and sold. Thus far, during 1937, the United States has imported more goods than it has exported, and it now looks as though the year would end with the same condition obtaining. Fall crop shipments to foreign nations will help somewhat to swell the American total of goods exported, but it is not expected to wipe out the present unequal balance.

Moreover, it is noted that much the same situation faced the country during 1936, although it was not so serious. For the first half of last year the purchases of foreign goods exceeded our sales abroad, but a heavier total of exports in the second half of the year swung the balance in our favor. This year the first half showed imports exceeding exports by $147,000,000. It will take an exceptional second half year of sales to wipe out this sum.

Why does it matter how the trade balance tips? A surplus of exports over imports means greater industrial activity in this country, as well as farm product sales. When Americans, either because of scarcity of goods in this country, or a flood of cheap foreign products on our markets, buy large quantities of foreign goods they are, beyond all question, decreasing industrial and farm activities in this country and putting money in the pockets of the people in foreign lands.

BUILDING AND LOAN RECORDS

New Castle is playing host to the building and loan association officers and directors from all parts of the state.

From the time the first loan was made in 1831 to the present, building and loan associations have quietly and unostentatiously performed a most valuable service to the nation. The building and loan plan has been one whereby individuals may accumulate by regular saving sufficient to buy or build a home. Last year it is estimated that over a billion dollars were loaned out to individuals who wished to repair, purchase or construct a home.

The importance of this thrift and home-financing industry to the country can hardly be over-estimated. Hundreds and thousands of individuals have homes today who would never have had them if it were not for these building and loan associations. In 1937 there were more than 10,000 institutions in all parts of the nation having assets of $6,000,000,000 and loaning over a billion dollars during 1937.

Any industry which enables people to save and become financially independent and to build a home performs a vital service to the nation. Home ownership is the backbone of democracy. Communism does not grow in a nation of home owners.

During the past few years we have been in an era of spending. Thrift had apparently taken a back seat but lately we have noticed that governments as well as individuals are beginning to realize that one cannot live by continuous spending and plunging into debt. Sooner or later governmental units must realize that income and outgo must be balanced and individuals have come to the realization that thrift is important as a means of becoming independent.

Despite all of the propaganda individuals are realizing more and more that it is wise to save and become financially independent if one is to secure more than a bare existence in old age and have the feeling of independence. Building and loan associations develop self-reliance and character in individuals.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHANGE METHODS SLOWLY

Please let me suggest a caution which I should have written years ago. Be very careful about sudden change of method in dealing with your children. When you listen to, or read about, what seems to be a better way of guiding your child than you have employed, take into account the difficulties you might have in shifting to that better way. In dealing with a child with any other human being indeed, you can't change him as you would change the amount of electric current by means of pressing a button. He's a creature of habits, attitudes, emotions, and so on.

Perhaps you have often sent your child to your purse or pocket for money, or have let him go there as he pleases. Say he is ten. Suddenly you decide that he should not do so and you announce to him that he shall not. Won't he suppose that you suspect dishonesty or that you have some things secreted from him? You might, however, proceed without injury to him, by merely suggesting that the family might like to try a new way of doing a way which you know to be practiced in some other homes, whereby each member respects the property, especially the purse, as a private personal property. Then the family in conference might be able to agree happily to this new way of doing. At best, however, the shift of method will not be easy to effect.

Tells of Child's Death.
From a certain large city, a few years ago, a letter came to me from a mother telling of the tragic death of her four-year-old son, her only child. It seems that this mother felt she needed expert assistance in the correction of some undesirable traits in her boy. She accordingly entered him in the nursery school at the university of that city. There she was told that she was keeping the child too close to her, that he needed to play more freely with other children, and that she should guard him less—ordinarily considered good advice.

She had kept him in her yard admitting there to only certain playmates. He had been forbidden to play freely with other children of the neighborhood.

Trying hard, as she thought, to follow the expert's advice, she told her child that from now on he could leave the yard and play with the other children about as he liked.

The next day, being Saturday, her little boy went off happy with an older boy. Two hours later her boy's body was found in the lake a few blocks away, having fallen in while playing on the shore. This little tyke had not been properly prepared for so much freedom. The change of method in his guidance was too sudden.

All Of Us

"CURVES AHEAD"

In the state where I live, every curve on the road is marked with a yellow diamond-shaped sign. On each sign is a curved line that informs the motorists whether the curve ahead is a simple turn in the road or an S-shaped one. There are glass buttons that flash in the light of the car's illumination and protect you even more ably at night than in the daytime.

And sometimes, when I have heard men and women wish wistfully that they knew what lay ahead of them, I have thought of those signs and wondered whether human beings really would be happier if they could see around the corners of their lives. If they had such convenient signs to inform that they were about to encounter great joy, great pain, great disappointment, great victory, would they be happier? Would they live more surely, more confidently?

I doubt it. We are not so made. We are designed to live as we do. There are forces within us that rise to meet our human energies. And most of us are braver than we think we are. . . . Some of us fall miserably when sudden disaster looms before us. But most of us rise, somehow, to the needs and demands of living. We suffer, but we endure it. We are humiliated, but we keep our bitterness to ourselves. We lose our dreams and replace them with others. We round one curve and find another before us and take that in its turn. The road is rarely straight before us, but we do not expect it to be.

And we know that if we always knew just what is ahead of us, we would find life dull, monotonous, and lacking in salt. . . . Those signs that are on the road are a great convenience and we would not do without them, but we do not need such signs in our spiritual lives. . . . For them we must substitute faith and patience and sure confidence that we know our way and will be able to meet whatever lies ahead with its due need of strength and courage.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I should like to buy a davenport and an easy chair for my living room, which is a Colonial type. Please tell me what kind I should select.

Answer—A wing or barrel chair will be comfortable, attractive and harmonious with a Colonial living room. A Duncan Phyffe davenport would be my own choice, although you may choose reproductions of any designer of the Colonial period—Chippendale, Sheraton, Adam Hepplewhite.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—What pieces should I place on my sideboard?

Answer—Do not overburden your sideboard with silver, especially if yours is a small, simply furnished room.

If you have silver, place a few pieces on the sideboard and the remainder on your serving table and china closet. It is no longer fashionable to make a silver display rack of your sideboard.

If you have no silver, place a glass bowl in the center and a matching candlestick on either side of it.

Domestic Help Is Scarce.
Important Art Is Neglected.
Girls Seek Better Employment.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

A HOUSEWIFE urges us to discuss domestic help. America is short on domestics—and housewives who employ domestics are in a nervous state. Housewives in a nervous state can upset the digestion and good feeling of an entire nation. Thus here is a national problem.

Some persons may argue that an enlightened society ought not to employ domestics. That hardly is true. There are many housewives who actually need domestics. And if we consider a housewife as an employer and the domestic as an employee who some day will be at the head of her own business (household), we obtain a better perspective.

Unfortunately, many housewives do not have such perspective.

Watch out! Here comes the dishes—at our head.

AN IMPORTANT ART

Now that the dishes have stopped flying, we shall continue:

Domestic science is an important art. Girls who enter it should consider themselves on an equality with factory girls. They probably are learning a greater art—the art, in fact, that leads to a successful marriage.

(Now, we begin to sound as if we were a Nazi propagandist—"woman's place is in the home," etc.)

But it is important that housewives realize domestics should be accorded the same treatment they are given in factories. And it is equally important that the domestics give as complete service as they would in factory or mill.

We've learned all that from students of the situation. It all sounds a bit trite. As usual, it will suit neither side.

ESCAPE-TO WHAT?

Recently we have been observing the "careers" of one or two domestics.

They are young girls, and are treated virtually as one of the family. Yet, they are impatient and unappreciative of the employers' efforts to smooth their lot.

Why? These girls yearn to go to factories, to be "free," to be in the outside world.

That would be splendid, if the "outside world" would shape careers for them or prepare them for their future. But the mills or the factories turn them into automata, battling to enroll them and there are bitter strikes in many places.

And women as well as men are beat up. Thus they are compelled to assert themselves. Their conditions may be bettered. And it is well to know first-hand, even in youth, the struggles of the world. But where does the factory or the mill lead?

It still is an unsatisfactory life to a woman who must earn her own living and has no special talent except the ability to be a drudge.

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright Central PressBy CLARK KINNAIRD

SATURDAY, SEPT. 18.

On Other Sept. 18ths—

1793—George Washington laid the cornerstone (southeast) of the U. S. Capitol in Washington with Masonic ceremonies.

1850—Historic Fugitive Slave Law was enacted. It required the federal government to assist in apprehending and returning, without trial, Negroes suspected of being escaped bondsmen. Its author, James Murray Mason, was the grandson of George Mason, abolitionist and author of the celebrated Virginia Bill of Rights!

75 Years Ago Today—The first Thanksgiving Day was observed in the Confederate States of America. None of the observants knew that the previous day, Lee's army had been defeated with heavy losses at Antietam.

70 Years Ago Today—Alfred Nobel, 34-year-old Swede, accidentally discovered how to mix a comparatively safe and easily manageable explosive—dynamite—when some nitroglycerine escaped from a cask into some sand.

1900—The first primary election in the U. S. was held in Minneapolis.

1905—Greta Gustafsson, photoplay actress known as Greta Garbo, was born in Sweden. Other birthdays: Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, b. 1912, tennis star; Powell Crosley, Jr., b. 1886, radio and baseball magnate.

1931—Japan seized Manchuria and began to take apart what was left of China, which had already lost 2,000,000 square miles of its territory (in 50 years) to European powers. Britain and France didn't declare war in capturing Chinese territory, either.

1934—League of Nations admitted Russia as a member. Same day, Mussolini commanded all Italian males from the age of eight be given military training.

SUNDAY

On Other Sept. 19ths—

1729—Many were hurt in a riot that started when police tried to break up a banquet given in Paris by Grand Thomas, tooth-puller at the conclusion of the first free dental clinic of record. In celebration of the birth of a Dauphin to Louis XV and his queen, Thomas gave free treatments to all comers for 15 days. Police drove him out of Paris as a dangerous charlatan because he claimed many body ills were due to bad teeth.

wrong when they train girls to be domestics, whether the girls will it or not. No harm can come of it. Other pursuits can be followed later, if one has the talent.

In America, domestic work ought to be put on a higher plane. We know one household where it is put on a high plane. That may solve the problem eventually.

In the meantime, both the housewives and the girls will suffer—and American digestion will become worse and worse.

But here the dishes come flying again. Perhaps we should not have been trapped into discussing this subject. It is much simpler, less dangerous, to discuss wars and politics. After all, we're merely a man. And did you ever meet a man who ever knew anything about a house?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ADVERTISE—OR ELSE—

When anyone tells you that America consumes half the world's coffee or three-fourths of the world's silk, remind him he's only telling you one-half of the story.

To say the United States has a dozen times as many automobiles as all of Europe, or that 21,000,000 electric irons are in use in American homes, really omits the essential point that this isn't solely because of our nation's bountiful resources, or because we are essentially a progressive people.

Our furnishings, vacuum cleaners, radios, are better and more numerous than those of any other nation. Because of a good inventive brain that made them were coupled with the desire of merchants and dealers to tell people about them, to acquaint housewives and heads of families with labor-saving devices for the home, with good buys in clothing.

It's a progress of a sort, it's true, if someone devises a better washing-machine, or produces a longer-wearing kind of cloth goods, or makes better ice-cream than anyone else, but genuine progress takes place only when these items are enjoyed in large numbers of American homes and not lying idle in a laboratory, store room or sales window.

The real push in progress comes when the world is told where it can get the best shirts, or pair of shoes, for the price, the best 50-cent dinner, or the best new or used car that will fit the budget. If they're not advertised, the products may just as well be locked up in a barn and the key thrown away.

Make a mouse-trap better than anyone else, and the world will beat a path to your door—but first the world has to know about the mouse-trap, what it sells for, and where it can be had.

The summer cottage napkin heads the list which I'd prepare.
You can pinch it, belt or tie it, but before the meal is o'er
A dozen times or twenty you will find it on the floor.

You can wear it like an apron or can tuck it neatly 'round your chin.
You may vest it; you may lap it; you may glue it to your shirt front, but as I have said before
Every time you want to use it you will find it on the floor.

Beautiful Wedding Friday Night In First M.E. Church

Miss Helen Louise Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miles, of 210 Edison avenue, and Clarence Herbert Oberholzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Oberholzer, Sr., of New Waterford, O., were married at 7 o'clock Friday evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church with the Rev. Dr. C. H. Heaton of the First Baptist church officiating in the absence of the Methodist pastor who is at Erie annual conference.

It was one of the loveliest weddings ever to take place in the downtown Methodist church and was witnessed by more than 250 friends of the young couple. The single ring ceremony was used and the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a glistening gown of soft ivory satin, with a floor length veil and long train. The gown was trimmed in handmade lace which has been in the family for many years.

The bride's only ornament was a pearl brooch, gift of the groom. She carried a lovely shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Russell Tyson, of Richmond, Va., her matron of honor, wore a dress of duonnet and carried tallman roses, while the other attendants, Mrs. Bernard Smith of Youngstown, O., and Miss Jean Bloomer of New Castle, were attired in blue velvet, with slight trains, coronets of rose buds, and carried bouquets of pink rose buds to match. Their pearls were gifts from the bride.

Russell Oberholzer, of East Palestine, O., served his brother as best man. The little flower girl was Kay Tyson, of Richmond, Va., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tyson, and she presented a pretty picture in her coral taffeta, duonnet-trimmed outfit. Billy Book, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McKissick, of New Castle, as ring bearer, wore white satin and carried the ring on a white satin cushion.

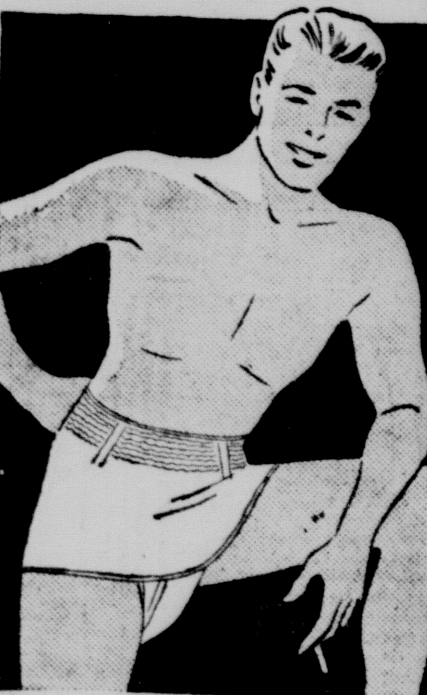

Ushers were Louis Reich, of East Palestine, Wendell Elser, Harry Sanders and Alec Miles, Jr., of New Castle.

The stately church, decorated with palms, ferns and fall flowers, made a beautiful setting for the impressive service. The First Methodist organist, Edwin Lewis, was at the console and in addition to playing the wedding march, accompanied Mrs. Paul Weller when she sang

TAXPAYERS ARE

Central Press

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—We hear a deal of the desirability of national preparedness for international trouble.
The argument is that predatory countries are extremely hesitant to step on the toes of a country which militarily and navally is very strong. It is assumed that such a country is much more likely to be left in peace than a weak country, which can be cuffed around in comparative safety.
This kind of talk is prevalent throughout the world just now. The European powers are arming, big and little ones alike, in hot haste and at enormous expense. Our own military folk are urging us to do likewise, and we are doing some of it—not on Europe's vast scale, but noticeably. We must be in a position to defend our neutrality, experts tell us.

PREJUDICED?
It is natural for army and navy men to reason thus. They are trained to believe in formidable armaments. Such armaments make for the importance of the jobs of professional militarists, too, and for more of them.
I do not question the good faith of the militarists, but I suspect that they are unconsciously prejudiced. They themselves do not contend that their armaments have any economic value. They admit that they simply are a huge tax burden. They say only that they are necessary insurance.

WRITER HEARD IT PREVIOUSLY
I listened to much of this that while Europe was arming prior to the World war.
I doubt the soundness of its logic. I surmise that a country with a seemingly overwhelming armament is tempted to use it. Another thing. Two or more countries get into an armament race. The burden on their taxpayers is terrible. Finally a point is arrived at where it is less expensive for them to go to war and stop the rivalry than to go on with the race.
It will be seen, then, that I'm a pacifist.
So I am, according to all rationality. But—

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE
Twenty-two or three years ago I was Pacific coast manager for a telegraph news association of national proportions. My headquarters was in San Francisco. My office was in a tough section of a then pretty tough city.
I had to get to work by 6 a. m. at the latest. The street lights were turned off at 5 a. m. In winter it was as dark as a pocket. It was harvest time for stick-up men. Their custom was to loot a victim; they sap him with a piece of gas pipe, to keep him quiet while they made their get-away. Probably this was first-class stick-up technique, but it was severe on the victim.
Two squares from my office door was the saloon of Tom Conway—a friend of mine, but not unobserved by stick-up men, either. Pedestrians were slugged all around that place.

ARMED, HE WAS UNMOLESTED
My system was to get off my street car at Tom's place and go in for a drink.
While there I habitually unbelted my overcoat, took out my 35- Colt and laid it on the bar.
Thereafter, my gun in my hand, I went the remainder of the way.
And I never was stuck up.
Not then. I've been stuck up on other occasions, when I wasn't prepared. But not when I was.
INCONSISTENT?
National preparedness and individual preparedness appear to be two entirely distinct propositions. Internationally I am a pacifist. Locally I favor a gun.
It is inconsistent, mayhap.

Boston Girl Acquires Share In Small Fortune Through Hospital Wedding

(International News Service)
NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 18.—Miss Helen McNulty, Boston stenographer, was almost fabulously rich today following a hospital death-bed marriage to George H. Hammett, 40, son of Harry G. Hammett, wealthy merchant who died last May.
The 36-year-old stenographer and Hammett had been sweethearts for some time, according to friends, who said that when he was stricken he insisted upon the marriage. She will share in a $400,000 estate left him by his father.
Hammett, who was divorced, had one son who also will share the estate under Rhode Island law.
Miss McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. McNulty, did not want to go through with the death-bed ceremony because she felt Hammett was doing it to provide for her future fortune, her friends said. However, she consented finally and the ceremony was performed at Newport hospital Wednesday by the Rev. Ernest Wismer of the United Congregational church of Newport.

High Eminence In Grand Canyon District Is Scaled By Scientists

DEER RUNS AND ANTLERS FOUND

(International News Service)
GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Sept. 18.—Signs of animal life on Shiva Temple, lofty plateau isolated from the mainland since the Colorado river thousands of years ago, was science's newest enigma today.
The amazing discovery was made by men who probably were the first to scale the precipitous cliffs and set foot on Biological Island, Dr. H. E. Anthony and members of the American Museum of Natural History of New York expedition.
No animals have yet been seen, but the discovery of deer runs and antlers was astonishing enough in itself. M. P. Tiltotson, superintendent of the Grand Canyon National Park, radioed the scientific party's base at the base of Shiva Temple.
It is incomprehensible how deer could have scaled the almost sheer cliffs, hundreds of feet high, which the expedition succeeded in climbing only after extensive preparation and long hours of struggling upward in which every wile of mountaineering was used, Tiltotson declared.
No water has yet been found on the towering isle cut off from the surrounding terrain for perhaps 30,000 years, but this was not unexpected, Tiltotson stated.

Fewer Inmates
At County Home

Decrease Is Noted In Comparison With Situation Several Years Ago

Inhabitants of the Lawrence County Home have gradually decreased during the past three years, according to Perry Snyder, superintendent of the institution. At the present season in 1935, 176 persons were living at the Home, while today the enrollment has been reduced to 104.
Superintendent Snyder remarked that the Home's farm has made a remarkable record for produce during the year. All the necessary vegetables have been provided in surplus, while the season's fruit bearing might be described as a bumper crop. Much of the fruit has been canned and stored.
During the summer, the main entrance has been improved by the construction of a raised stone step.

New Castle Defeats Butler High 19-0

EXCITING GAME HERE ON FRIDAY ATTRACTS 7,500

Red Hurricane Scores Two Touchdowns In 3 Minutes 45 Seconds; Eddie Sovesky, Victor Nocera, Walter Palkovitch Cross Golden Tornado's Goal Line; Butler Threatens Several Times; Second Nocturnal Grid Tussle Is Filled With Thrills; New Castle Reserves Make Good Showing; Local Line Firm.

Flashing a spectacular attack before a crowd of 7,500 frenzied grid fans, the Red Hurricane "juggernaut" of New Castle high won a 19-0 victory over the Golden Tornado of Butler high on the greensward of Taggart stadium, Friday evening. The tussle went down into the record book as one of the most thrilling gridiron battles in some years.

With three minutes and forty-five seconds left before the end of the first half, Walter Palkovitch, stocky local quarterback, sent the gallery wild with two long accurate passes, one to Sovesky and another to Nocera, good for the first two touchdowns. Called to buck the line, Palkovitch completed his stellar performance by driving through the Butler line for five yards and the third local touchdown, in the fourth quarter.

Butler Threatens
Coach Heinzer's team lived up to what it was reported to be, a hard fighting ball club that never gives up, a team that is clever offensively. The visitors threatened early in the game. Butler took possession of the oval on the 30 where DeFoggi was nailed after grabbing Palkovitch's long punt from the 20. A small gain by Novak, an off-side penalty against New Castle, and an impressive line buck by Kramer placed the ball in mid-field.

Novak tossed a successful pass to Kramer who was stopped on the New Castle 48. Failing to gain through the strong New Castle line, the Soap Miners again took to the "air lanes." Novak rifling a pretty pass to Kramer who raced to New Castle's 36 before being stopped. Novak pulled a fooler, first getting back to kick and then passing. The Hurricane lads were caught napping. Penar rushed to the 32 yard mark followed by Novak who fought his way through center to the 30. Novak faded back for another pass, Palkovitch intercepting and halting the threat. The best the Bridenbaughmen could do in the period was boot to safety.

Butler Close Again
Following the start of the second period, New Castle still found the Butler defense "puzzling" and Palkovitch was forced to kick, the punt dropping over the goal line. Penar, after an unsuccessful play through center, "quick kicked" to Sovesky who was dropped on a "spot." The locals gambled on a "spot pass" which Penar intercepted. Two passes failed and Novak lifted the ball to the New Castle 23, a pretty kick.

Palkovitch and Sovesky couldn't make a substantial gain and New Castle elected to kick again. Palkovitch's kick was partially blocked by Wick. Black getting the ball and running to the Hurricane 45. Fading back into his territory, Novak heaved another sweet pass which hit into the arms of Gulevich who zigzagged his way to the New Castle 19. Kramer went through center to the 18.

Novak and Kramer, on two successive line plunges, moved the pigskin to the New Castle 12. Mica-letti, who was injured earlier in the game, went in for Gander who replaced him, and intercepted Novak's throw to Gulevich. Micaletti, running like a scared rabbit, gained 14 yards on a spectacular scamper. Sovesky followed with 8 more yards through right tackle.

Frankie Coppel then broke loose through the center of the line to Butler's 42 but fumbled. Kennedy recovering for Butler. Penar fumbled on the next play, Dombroski falling on the ball on the Butler 43. Palkovitch threw a nice pass to Coppel, who redeemed himself by making a nice run to the Butler 30 yard chalk stripe.

New Castle Scores
Realizing that the half was practically over, New Castle resorted to the air. Coppel received the ball from center, handed it to Palkovitch who faded back to his 40 and threw an accurate pass into the outstretched arms of Eddie Sovesky who crossed without any difficulty. Socrates Roussos booted the ball between the uprights for the extra marker. Score, New Castle 7, Butler 0.

Butler moved the ball to the 44 following the kick-off. Novak then tried another pass, but Raymond Micaletti again intercepted and raced to the New Castle 32. This was the second time Micaletti put the New Castle eleven in scoring position. The same play that resulted in the initial touchdown proved successful again. Coppel handed the oval to Palkovitch who ran back to the 36 and tossed out another sensational pass which landed into the waiting arms of Victor Nocera a few yards away from the goal line. Nocera encountered no difficulty in crossing. Roussos' try for extra point was wide. The half ended shortly after.

New College Rules

In order to give local football fans an opportunity to get acquainted with the new college football rules, sanctioned at the recent meeting of the rules committees, before the opening of the season, herewith is presented the four new rules:

1—Kick-off. If the ball is kicked out of bounds, it is to be put in play by opponents on their own 35 yard line, or 10 yards in from the point where it crossed the sideline—whichever more advantageous. Briefly—only one kick-off will be allowed.

2—Two numbers are required on both front and back of all players.

3—Receivers of forward passes get less protection. It must be remembered that defensive players have as much right to the ball as the eligible opponents and bodily contact, however severe, between players making a "bona fide" attempt to catch or bat the ball shall not be construed as interference.

4—Free ball—kicked only with the foot. "A free ball strike a portion of a player's body other than his foot. This is not to be considered as kicking." There shall be no penalty—even if a player pushes the ball with his nose for 15 yards.

Editor's note: These rules apply to colleges.

Second Game Of Season Thrills

Near Perfect Weather Adds
To New Castle-Butler
High Spectacle

VISITORS SHOW
STAR HALFBACK

One week ago the secret service department reported that it had some fairly good evidence that New Castle high school had a football team this season. In code and invisible ink the evidence was presented and the signs seemed to point to the fact.

Last night the secret service men were out again with microscope and powder, seeking to confirm their theory of a week ago or else show that it was as false as an upper set of mail order teeth. After watching New Castle and Butler tangle cleats for four periods the chief investigator, a cautious chap, said that in his opinion there was the possibility of something or other.

Once again the weather man did more than his contract called for. The night was as nearly perfect as one might ever hope to get. A hint of fall in the air and a hint of noisiness in the stands. Coats and furs were out but before the game was over the excitement and color of the fray was enough to warm the blood of a lad with sub-normal blood pressure.

The crowd looked like bargain day at a world's series. There may not have been more than 7500 at the game, but there must have been that many. The stadium side was filled to the rails, the wooden bleachers on the best side were filled and the stands at the ends of the field were almost filled. If that isn't a crowd you can sue us.

In the crowd were many delegates to the building and loan convention now in session. Some of the brethren from the east went out to the game just to have something to do. They came away after it wondering if they had seen two high school teams or a session between two major college teams.

The band was out in full strength and no need to remind you they were good. They seemed better than they had any right to be this early in the season but it may not be the thought of those new suits that did it.

As to the game itself nothing much more entertaining will be dished out this season. Butler has a real team and the score doesn't indicate just how good they were. A young gentleman named Novak played left half for Butler and he made things about as miserable for New Castle as a hang nail. He was just where he shouldn't have been most of the time and several times he had a lot of hearts in the stands doing the Susie Q with his stellar work.

New Castle played typical football in the last half but there were a few ragged spots in the first half. The defections came in mid-field, however, and the pay-off is down around the goal line.

The research laboratory of the secret service is still continuing its investigation. By Thanksgiving we expect to have a complete report.

Expert Officials Handle Local Game

Fans See Outstanding Grid
Officials Here On Friday Night

Three of the outstanding officials in the country handled the New Castle-Butler game last night.

J. H. Friesell, one of the officials at the last two Rose Bowl games, who is slated to handle some of the most important grid engagements on this season's campaign, including Army-Notre Dame, Yale-Harvard, Princeton-Chicago and a few others, was scheduled to referee, but exchanged to the headlinesman's post. Friesell was hurt in an auto crash several weeks ago. He ranks highly.

Al Slack, who is known throughout the states as one of the most capable officials, was umpire, and Earl Cavanaugh was referee. They enjoy working New Castle games they stated. "Dex" Very, former Penn State All-American and another high class official, was also present.

Prior to the start of the game, the officials remarked about an important grid rule which practically every newspaper in the country forgot all about. The rule pertains to the point after touchdown try. Should the ball be blocked before it crosses the scrimmage line, the kicking team may advance it over for the extra point. The kicking team may advance the ball at any time when it is blocked and does not cross the scrimmage line. This rule applies to colleges only.

Bessemer Plays Farrell Sunday

Series For Slovak League
Title Will Open At Bessemer Sandlot

GAME TO START
AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

Baseball enthusiasts of Lawrence county will gather in Bessemer Sunday afternoon to watch the Bessemer aggregation battle Farrell in the first of the three game series for the Slovak league championship.

The tussle starts at 2:30 o'clock. This marks the first time a pair of Pennsylvania clubs have captured the first and second half pennants. The Farrell team is composed of an array of hard hitters, including Mack, who is leading the circuit. Donato, who received a tryout with the Chicago Cubs this season, is also a member of the Farrell club. Supple, who recently defeated Bessemer, will take the knoll for the visitors.

Snyder, who has defeated Farrell twice this season, limiting the neighbors to one run in 18 innings, will twirl for the Lawrence countians. Valentino and W. Stanley, who have been big guns in the circuit, are expected to be in the thick of the battle Sunday. Valentino is batting .400, while Stanley leads the league in triples with eight. The winners of the title will play Lancaster, Class AA champs.

No doubt Bessemer will play host to a large crowd expected to gather for the game.

Shenango Defeats Evans City Eleven

Large Crowd Watches East
New Castle Team Score
12-0 Triumph

Pallerino And Kirkwood
Score Touchdowns;
Game Is Exciting

After being held to even terms during the first half the Blue and Gold clad gridgers of Shenango Township high school marched on to a 12-0 victory over Evans City Friday afternoon on the Shenango field. One of the largest crowds in several years saw the exciting game.

Most of the action was confined to mid-field during the initial half, neither team being able to advance in scoring position. At the start of the third, Harry Druschel, Shenango tackle, scooped up an Evans City fumble on the 38. Kirkwood then heaved a nice pass to Pitzer who grabbed it and raced to the 14. Another pass, Kirkwood to Pallerino netted the Shenangoans 3 more and Sam Mooney battled his way across the center of the line for a first down. Vito Pallerino skirted around the left side of the line for the first touchdown. The try for extra point, via line plunge was no good.

In the closing stages of the quarter, Shenango drove the Evans City back continuously. Frame made a bad kick Shenango getting the oval on the Evans City 35 at the close of the third quarter.

Shenango Scores Again
On the opening play of the final quarter, Carl Kirkwood scooted his way around right end and trotted over the goal line for the second and final Shenango score. Kirkwood tried to pass for the extra point but the ball was grounded.

The victory was the first for Shenango over Evans City in several years. Shenango served notice of its strength to other Lawrence County clubs. Coach Nocera has molded together a rather smooth aggregation that stands a good chance of coping Lawrence County Class B honors. For Shenango, the playing of Pitzer, Kirkwood and Druschel stood out. Pitzer thrilled the gathering with a number of exceptionally good punts one going close to 60 yards. The East New Castle team was impressive.

Frame, Rape, and Dambach were Evan City's outstanding gridgers. Shenango travels to Freedom for its third battle next Friday.

The lineup:

Grove City Football Drills Start Monday

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Sept. 18.—Thirty candidates for the Grove football team will greet the new head coach, James C. Loveless, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the first practice is called. Two drills will be held Monday and Tuesday and the schedule will be reduced to practice Wednesday, when classes will start and the freshmen candidates will report.

Jim Loveless, who came from Southeastern Teachers college in Durant, Okla., to succeed "Bill" Amos, was greeted with the news that Jim Patterson of Leeburg and George Barnes of Tusculum, varsity guards last year, will not return. Graduation claimed three backs, Jerry Morris, quarterback; Bob Schoch, halfback, and Abe Mori, fullback, leaving the new mentor with only six lettermen in stead of eight. In addition, eight others who saw considerable action last fall will be in school.

The backfield with Mori Patterson, fullback, and Bob Bingham and Bill O'Mahoney, halfbacks, as the only veterans will be Coach Loveless' chief worry, although the guard situation is serious since in addition to the two regulars the squad will lose Shawgo, first string reserve. Three experienced ends, three tackles and two centers with many varsity games on their records will be available.

Under the amateur program in force here for five years, nothing is known of the freshman talent until the yearlings appear for football practice. This year's registration cards list a number of boys with high school experience, but Coach Loveless expects to depend largely upon upperclassmen.

The schedule this year lists four home games and four on opponents' fields. Hiram college and California Teachers are the new opponents. The schedule is as follows: Oct. 2, Clarion, here; Oct. 9, Hiram, away; Oct. 16, Juniata, away; Oct. 23, Allegheny, here; Oct. 30, Slippery Rock, here; Nov. 6, Ithaca, away; Nov. 13, California, away; Nov. 20, Thiel, here.

Bessemer High Grid Squad Is Hard At Work

Coach Capazutti Prepares Eleven For Opening Game With Hubbard

TEN LETTERMEN BACK IN SQUAD

Faced with the toughest eight game schedule ever booked for the Bessemer gridgers, Coach A. G. Capazutti is busily grooming a squad of 35 for their opening engagement with Hubbard high, on Saturday, of next week.

Capazutti has taken over the reins left by the departure of C. P. Fredericks who assumed a new post in Mechanicsburg. Although the set-up of ten lettermen returning would seem to give no cause for gloom, the Bessemer team is nevertheless a bit pessimistic as far as predictions are concerned. A lack of the necessary avoirdupois looms up as problem number one, according to his statement. And although numerous holdovers are returning, too many haven't had much important experience.

DiLullo, Anderson, Miti-a, Shoenick, Hribar are the regulars retained from last years line. Notareschi and Gallena were mainstays in the backfield who returned.

This week's scrimmage brought out a temporary line-up that is subject to change before opposing the Hubbard eleven. Drabuschak, and DiLullo seem to be the present pick of the ends. Miti-a and Shoenick are holding down the tackles. Anderson and Shuman look good on the guard. Hribar has had experience at center that gives him an advantage. In the backfield Dr. Arment at quarter, Shoup at full, and Gallena at half, will probably get the call. For the other half, Notareschi, Zorinich and Pello, are waging a merry battle. Pello, a freshman is a good bid to break into the backfield array.

Others making up the roster include Drabuschak, Kennedy, Hedberg, M. Germanovitch, P. Germanovitch, Gallo, Grist, Calderaro, Shuluga, Torkovitch, M. McCree, J. McCree, P. Squeglia, Johnson, Conner, Crarcraft, and Moses.

Following is the complete schedule: Sept. 25, Hubbard-home; Oct. 2, Ursuline-home; Oct. 8, Evans City-home; Oct. 15, Union-away; Oct. 23, Freedom-home; Oct. 29, Shenango-away; Nov. 5, Mercer-home; Nov. 11, Lowellville-away.

Tights Worn On Gridiron Once

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

In 1876 PRINCETON invited Columbia, Harvard and Yale to meet in Springfield for the purpose of adopting the Rugby Union Code. The representatives of the schools met around a table and formed an American Intercollegiate Football association.

Among changes voted in the Rugby code was scoring. A goal was made equal to four touchdowns and the game was decided by a majority of touchdowns.

Under the rules, the game consisted of 45-minute halves, with a 10-minute intermission.

Costumes, consisting of tights, appeared for the first time in 1876.

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Sept. 18.—Young Jimmy Adamick today saw his reputation of being able to "stop any man he can hit" go shimmering with the flicking fists of Slapsie-Maxie Rosenbloom.

The wily New York veteran heavy got off the floor twice last night to come back and earn a referee's decision over the Midland mauler, who entered the fight with a string of 32 knockouts. The 13,000 customers booed the decision fully ten minutes. Rosenbloom took an eight count in the second and was dropped for no count in the sixth.

Duquesne To Use Same Grid System

Duquesne's Powerhouse Attack Is Patterned After That Of Notre Dame

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—Duquesne University's football destiny will rise or fall this year on the same system of play which enabled it to submerge Pitt, Rice, Carnegie Tech, Marquette and Mississippi State and others last season, according to reports that Head Coach John P. (Clipper) Smith will resort to experimental systems.

Duquesne's powerhouse attack is patterned after the Notre Dame system and no one should know it better than Smith who was an All-American guard under Rockne in 1926. There are few eastern teams which haven't bumped up against the Rockne strategy in some form or other. Paradoxically, it is still one of the hardest systems to diagnose or better yet, stop.

It has been scouted religiously, analyzed under glass and taken apart, yet year after year it holds its own with the myriad formulas which come under the heading of grid sensationalism.

Pitt knew exactly what to expect against Duquesne last year but was stymied. Marquette, unbeaten before the Duquesne game, was another victim.

"The Notre Dame system works both ways," Smith says. "It can function flawlessly or blow up in your face. Team stamina, morale and natural ability paired with split-second co-ordination often represents the difference between scoring and being scored upon."

Allen Hurts 12th Victory

Cleveland Hurler Is Unde-feated For Season; Giants, Cubs Win Again

CARDINALS TRIM LOU FETTE, 2-0

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Johnny Allen, temperamental right hander of the Indians, today has twelve straight victories to his credit without a defeat to show for his year's work.

Allen's great pitching lends credence to the recent statement of Steve O'Neill, manager of the Indians, that if he had had the services of Allen and Bob Feller all year, the Indians today would be battling with the Yankees for the pennant.

Several years ago old Tom Zachary of the Yankees wound up a season with 12 victories and no defeats and his reward was to draw his unconditional release. Of course, nothing like that is going to happen to Allen who should have many good years before him.

Johnny held the Red Sox to four hits for a 4-1 decision in the only American League game played yesterday. He had to be good for Buck Newson gave the Indians only three hits. However, the first of these was a homer by Solters, the second was a triple by the same fellow, followed by a pass, and then came the third hit—a homer by Hale which sewed up the game.

The Giants drew a game nearer to the dubious pleasure of meeting the Yanks in the World Series by knocking off the Reds, 6 to 3, behind Harry Gumbert's five-hit pitching.

Larry French, veteran lefthander of the Cubs also turned in a five-hitter to beat the Phils, 10 to 2, but the Cubs' chances were automatically reduced because they have one less game left in which to overhaul the New York pace-setters.

The Giants have 19 games left and the Cubs only 16 but the Giants have still five fewer games lost and to lose out they must drop six more games than the Cubs. It looks like a nifty series for New York.

St. Johnson halted the Bees' desperate rush to make the first division by shutting them out with six hits, the Cards winning, 2-0, on Johnny Mize's homer off Lou Fette in the eighth.

Season Opener For Pitt September 25

Walter Raskowski Likely To Start; Charles Fleming On Second Team

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—With the opening game of the season a week away, Jock Sutherland is doing his best to get his 1937 Pitt Panthers in good enough order that he can select a starting lineup.

The second outfit has Red Fleming and John Dickson at the ends, Ted Schmidt or Jim Scarpin and Elmer Merkovsky at the tackles, Al Lezowski and Dante Dalle Tezz at the guards, Henry Adams at center, Micholosen or Chikerno at quarter, Johnny Urban and Larry Peace at the halfbacks, and Patrick or Stapulis at fullback.

Still very much in the fight for jobs and having good chances to land a post before the first kick-off are Ben Kish, hard-hitting sophomore quarterback, and Ralph Hafer, rangy sophomore tackle.

Kish because of his defensive work and passing ability has been given several chances to handle the varsity.

Ohio Wesleyan comes to Pittsburgh determined to make a better showing than a year ago when the Methodists were shocked in the first quarter and never recovered.

Massillon Wins; Warren Loses, 6-0

New Castle high fees baited exactly 500 on Friday evening while the Red Hurricane was piling up a 19-0 victory over Butler.

Bob Glass, who was mainly responsible for New Castle's loss to Massillon last season, was in rare form again last evening as the Massillon Tigers rolled up an easy 33-13 victory over Gary, Indiana. All that did was score a touchdown, annex three extra points, punted beautifully most of the evening and handled the passing assignment in splendid form.

Warren, Ohio, made its home debut losing to Erie Academy 6-0. A 35 yard right around Warren's right end did the trick. Warren carried the oval to the Erie 2 yard line in the final quarter but muffed.

New Castle plays Warren here on October 22. New Castle travels to Massillon, October 29.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Continued from Yesterday... Safety campaign... we left you last night dropping the coin and try to stop it with your foot... remember?

It takes the coin 2-5 of a second to reach the floor. From a height of 48 inches, it will take 1-2 of a second. From a height of 70 inches, it will take 3-5 of a second... reaction time of 2-5 seconds is very good; 1-2 second is fair; 3-5 second is slow... Now change the line of thought and suppose you are in your car... foot on the accelerator and then on the brake in an emergency... At 40 miles per hour, you travel 60 feet in one second. If your reaction time is 1-2 second, your car will have traveled 30 feet between the time you recognize a dangerous situation and the time you get your foot on the brake. This has nothing to do with stopping the car; the brake action has yet to take place. Four wheel brakes in good condition may stop your car in an additional 80 feet. Total distance, 110 feet... At 50 m. p. h., reaction time would consume 38 feet, braking 125; total 163... At 60 m. p. h., reaction time would consume 45 feet, braking 180 feet; total 225... please note that it takes twice the distance to stop at 60 m. p. h. as at 40 m. p. h... now you see why it pays to be careful at intersections and in congested areas... BE ON YOUR TOES.

Going around looking, looking you are bound to see something that has a little encouragement... going out Mercer street the other night we noticed that a few signs were going up to tell the public that the section out that-a-way was being opened for home owners... folks that sounds good to me... New Castle is on the up-grade and we need some better looking homes... here's your chance younger generation to make your dreams come true.

They say we are in line for a warm spell... that won't make many of us sorry... or will it?

Generally Lower Prices Prevail In Early Market Trading

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The stock market today tumbled 1 to more than 4 points in the leaders and as much as 8 in individual issues, duplicating the heavy losses of the preceding session.

Steels, on the bearish operations outlook, and coppers, depressed by increased stocks on hand in August and fears of a reduction in domestic metal prices, were the chief bear targets. Motors, rails, rail equipments, chemicals and oils also suffered fairly heavy losses.

Virtually all active copper issues dropped into new low ground for the year, including American Smelting, off almost 4 points, Anaconda, the Cerro de Pasco and Kennecott. The last three each slumped 3 or more points before the decline was checked.

In the steels, a drop of more than 4 points to around 90 was suffered by U. S. Steel. Bethlehem lost about as much, National Steel 3 and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 2.

Other weak spots included Allied Chemical, which tumbled 8 points to a new 1937 low, dropping out of the select "200 club." Westinghouse Electric, off more than 3; Dupont, Union Carbide and American Telephone, each about 2 points; American Lumber & Foundry, almost 4 to a new bottom for the year, and Johnson & Johnson.

Commodities were comparatively quiet. September corn lost about a cent a bushel, after its recent spectacular gains forced by a short "squeeze." Other grains were firm, but cotton eased somewhat. Bonds were lower and quiet.

Most foreign markets were closed for the usual week-end holiday. The dollar gained slightly against alien currencies.

portunity to present his side of the case. He did state, perhaps, significantly, that "the surest protection of the individual and of minorities is that fundamental tolerance and feeling for fair play which the bill of rights assumes."

When Justice Black returns to the United States the end of the month, President Roosevelt will be 3,000 miles away on the west coast. Unless there is some unexpected development Washington sources that the country will still be guessing for some days what the beleaguered Alabamian's status ultimately will be. Tonight President Roosevelt is again heading back to his Hyde Park home for a few days rest before embarking on what promises to be a most crucial test of his personal popularity.

Next Wednesday afternoon, from the Hudson river estate, he and Mrs. Roosevelt will entrain for Seattle to visit their daughter, Mrs. Anna Boettiger, and the grandchildren. En route, the President will spend a night in Yellowstone National Park and look over such New Deal projects as Fort Peck, Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams.

The trip West will be made, however, on a special train completely equipped for sound. Loud speakers will adorn the rear platform and connect up through the train, where newspapermen will be working. It was obvious that from Hyde Park to Seattle the President planned a full platform appearances such as those of the 1936 campaign.

In Opponents' Territory
The route to the coast will take Mr. Roosevelt through the states of such outstanding senatorial opponents of his defeated supreme court reorganization plan as Burton K. Wheeler of Montana; Burke of Nebraska; O'Mahoney of Wyoming, and McCarran of Nevada. What the executive intends to do in those states on his "intake" trip remained to be seen. He insists it is to be a non-political swing.

Officially there will be no complete itinerary for "a day or so." It was understood, nevertheless, that Mr. Roosevelt will return to Washington by a more southerly route and take in many hundred miles of new territory.

There could be no question last night that the President talked, not only to his immediate radio audience, but to a world-wide radio hook-up, that his Dutch jaw was set for a finish fight on the supreme court-constitution issue.

"Constitution Guarantees Liberty" Enumerating the New Deal objectives of hour-wage legislation, crop control and elimination of "disruptive trade practices," the executive asserted: "And I am determined that under the Constitution these things shall be done."

He pugnaciously declared "the Constitution guarantees liberty, not license masquerading as liberty." He insisted this fundamental paper was written by the founding fathers as "a layman's document, not as a lawyer's contract—that purpose it contained a 'statement of mere objectives' concerning fundamental powers of government which 'flexible statesmanship of the future, within the Constitution, could adapt to time and circumstances.'"

Renewing his battle with the supreme court on this score, Mr. Roosevelt added:

"Even the supreme court was treated with that purposeful lack of specification. Contrary to the belief of many Americans, the Constitution says nothing about any power of the court to declare legislation unconstitutional, nor does it mention the number of judges for the court."

Lawyers "distinguished in their day" warned that almost every major step toward national expansion, economic and social, was unconstitutional, the President continued, but they were overruled. Coming up to date, and aiming directly at Justice Owen J. Roberts, he declared:

"For 20 years the odd man on the supreme court refused to admit that state minimum wage laws for women were constitutional. A few months ago, after my message to the Congress on the rejuvenation of the judiciary, the court was admitted that the court had been wrong—for all these 20 years—and overruled himself."

Pulaski 4-H Will Meet Next Tuesday

It is announced that the Pulaski 4-H club will meet Tuesday evening, September 21, at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. J. H. Stoner.

All mothers of members will be special guests for the evening, and Miss Mary Vogle will be in charge of the program.

Plans will be made at that time for the club's part in the Lawrence county round-up of October 2.

tions should have in order to be properly protected. "Advertising and Business Development" was the subject assigned John W. Ladd of Chicago, Ill., manager of the advertising and business development division of the United States Building and Loan League.

He pointed out the advantage of Cordial public relations and urged the league to advertise its business. The last speaker of the morning session was Raymond P. Harold, president of the Worcester, Mass., Co-operative Federal Savings and Loan association. He spoke on "Business Building Methods" in which he suggested ideas to the delegates that had for the purpose the increasing of their activities.

Federation Meet.
Between 8:30 and 10 this morning the delegates representing federal savings and loan associations met.

Re-Elected

GEORGE W. CLIFFE

Once again Mr. Cliffe of Philadelphia was named secretary and treasurer of the Pennsylvania League of Building and Loan Associations when the annual election was held today in The Castleton hotel.

In the grill room of the hotel for a breakfast meeting. This was in charge of Building and Loan Association of Pittsburgh.

Four speakers addressed the meeting. Robert Jones, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Pittsburgh; George L. Tressler, secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of the Quaker City Federal Savings and Loan association, and Louis W. Marmorstein, executive vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of South Philadelphia.

Mr. Nessen advocated a state wide clearing house of information to be set up with a state wide advertising campaign. Said he: "I firmly believe that more actual new business will eventually develop for all of us in a shorter space of time and with less expense through the consistent use of newspapers than through any other medium."

Criticism Banks.
Mr. Marmorstein answered a recent criticism of the American Bankers association that the federal savings and loan associations were in competition with the banks. He not only denied the accusation vigorously but replied with a criticism of the banks for granting long term loans on first mortgages.

"I contend that it is wrong for any bank to lend demand deposit money on a long term loan," said he. The American Bankers association itself so held 20 years ago and reaffirmed that stand ten years ago. I hold that any institution dealing with deposits where the longest term is a 30-day demand period has no right to make any but strictly commercial loans."

Install Officers.
This afternoon just before adjournment the new officers were to be installed. The reports of committees on resolutions by laws and banking on proposed amendments was to take place. One address listed was that of Herman O. Walther of Chicago, Ill., president of the Society of Residential Appraisers.

At 6:15 tonight the annual banquet takes place with Norman E. Clark, immediate past state president, presiding. The pastor of the First Christian church, is to deliver the invocation. Cameron H. Beck, personnel director of the New York Stock Exchange, is the only speaker and he will be introduced by Attorney Homer H. Swaney of Beaver Falls. Three hundred seventy-five reservations had been made for the banquet this afternoon and every available bit of space will be used for the diners.

Officers and delegates alike have expressed their delight at the success of the convention and have unfolding in their praise of Norman E. Clark and his associates in their handling of the convention. Friday's Session.

Five sound addresses marked the Friday session of the convention of the Pennsylvania League of Building and Loan Associations now in session in The Castleton hotel. Each of the five had its particular relationship to the work of building and loan associations and each of them was delivered by a man who knew his subject.

The session opened at 2 o'clock with State President Norman E. Clark in the chair. First to be introduced was Ernest L. Trigg, chairman of the board of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Pittsburgh.

He spoke on "Building and Loan Opportunities From An Observer's Point of View." He said that with conditions improving there was no reason why the associations could not rebuild the public confidence they once enjoyed. "The future looks bright for building and loan operations," said he. "This nation must build an average of 800,000 homes in the next five years and certainly this offers opportunity to the building and loan."

Revenue Secretary.
J. Griffith Boardman, secretary of revenue in the present state administration, was the second speaker and had for his subject "Pennsylvania's Contribution to the Financing of Small Homes." After praising the work of the HOLC he touched upon the features of the Housing Act and said that the FHA was not a competitor of the building and loan associations but a supplement to the public through a state wide campaign of advertising.

Ralph H. Richards, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank in Pittsburgh, spoke next upon "Building and Loan Conditions in Pennsylvania." Horace Eshbach, chief of the building and loan bureau, department of banking for the state, discussed the building and loan conditions and suggested two amendments to be recommended to the next general assembly. One amendment would involve the capitalization of dividends and the other a uniform plan of distribution of earnings.

The last speaker of the afternoon was John E. Alden of Philadelphia who spoke on "Modern Accounting Practices."

Evening Entertainment.
In the evening the delegates forgot the business sessions and enjoyed a program of entertainment prepared by the local committee. A group of professional entertainers presented a floor show and a dance in The Castleton ballroom following.

The convention is a noteworthy success. With a larger crowd than anticipated each session finds the ballroom crowded for apparently building and loan delegates like the convention seriously.

Early today a bridge luncheon was held in the Field club for the women guests to the convention. Tonight the closing event is the annual banquet and the ticket sale at noon today indicated that every seat would be taken.

driving the Chinese toward the south. At the same time the left wing, advancing through marshy lands that virtually immobilized tanks and other mechanized detachments, crossed the Chumai river at Mengliang and Tsinchiao, pursuing the enemy toward the west.

Meanwhile, the main Japanese division occupied Kwanichuan, 10 miles southwest of Chochow, and then took Peichinghiao.

The Chinese have established strong defense works along the Tientsin-Pukow and Peiping-Hankow railways and advanced their positions to points north of Tsangchow after flooding the region.

Heavy Chinese reinforcements have arrived at Tsangchow to relieve beleaguered regiments. Lie Peiping Col. John E. Marston, United States marine commander, informed 140 Americans who have expressed a desire to leave the city he would afford them transportation aboard a destroyer as far as Chefoo, where they will be able to board a boat for Manila.

PITTSBURGH CO.
WILL MOVE PLANT
TO THIS DISTRICT

once more industry here has been given an impetus that will be reflected in all phases of community life. It heralded a more promising era for New Castle as an industrial center.

Credits Junior C. Of C.
Mr. Garland, who personally guided weeks of negotiations with Hermon Coffey, proprietor of the Keystone concern, agreed in glowing terms the New Castle Junior Chamber of Commerce "for making this thing possible."

The Garland general manager said:

"This arrangement has been made possible through the excellent cooperation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of New Castle for this new project required a certain expenditure that the Garland company itself could not see its way clear to make at this time."

"With the cooperation of the Junior Chamber headed by its president, Presley N. Jones, a sufficient amount of money was subscribed by civic-spirited individuals here to finance part of the needed improvement of the West Pittsburgh plant."

"The Junior chamber worked hard," he said.

"That work is under way now," Mr. Garland said. The Garland building has been occupied on a rental basis for some time by the Chambers Motor Company of this city for the storage and display of automobiles.

"Mr. Chambers was very willing," Mr. Garland explained, "to move out when it developed that this city was promised an industrial plant with a payroll such as the Keystone firm has."

The Chambers Motor Company is taking over two other Garland buildings alongside the silk mill for its storage and display purposes.

While the definite moving date could not be given today, Mr. Garland was of the belief that the move would come about the middle of October. That depends, however, upon how fast the improvement work moves forward.

The plant in Pittsburgh at the present time employs 60 but it is stated that within six months production can be stepped up to the point where 125 to 150 persons can be employed, or as fast as New Castle people can be trained for the jobs.

The move will bring between 25 to 50 families from the Pittsburgh section to Lawrence county, with the bulk of them establishing homes either in New Castle or in

Sunday Shine Gone In City

People From Whistle Stops
Miss Sunday Shoe Shine
In New York

ODD RECALLS
DAYS OF YOUTH

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—One of the missing links in city life for the jaspers from the whistle stops is the Sunday morning shoe shine. It was somehow eventful back yonder—an indulgence for only those who had acquired a certain standing in the community.

There was a rite about the Sunday morning shoe shine. Ordinary folk could engage their shine boys at various hours of the week, but Sunday mornings were reserved for the elect. "I can't shine you right now," a shiner might say. "Major Fuller will be along any minute."

A dignity seemed to flow into those who came out into town for the Sunday shine. Col. Jud Nash, for instance, editor of The Journal in his Prince Albert, round detachable cuffs, boiled shirt, anchor stud pin with dangling chain and black washable string bow tie.

Capt. Simeon Huddleston of the river packet Gazette, in his Stetson and high boots made especially in Pittsburgh. Also the hand-washing little Presbyterian parson, the Reverend Sykes, who as Miss Sophronia Tucker always said, was as "nervous as a rabbit's nose."

The Sunday morning shine crowd viewed the passing parade from the great high chairs—one run by Doc Black in front of Jim Robinson's barber shop on Court street, another on the Park Central corner in charge of Fleet White, the porter, and still another uptown in the shadow of the Hocking Valley depot in charge of Modock, whose last name no one seemed to know.

Gen. Ezra Stoutimere from his great rolling farm Seven Oaks, across the Ohio in West Virginia, was among the Sunday shiners in seasonable weather. He drove his famous roans, Tip and Tap, which always captured the first prize for carriage horses at the Mason County Fair. Gen. Stoutimere lived with his spinster daughter, Mitt Titor—a fish behind her back—and still had three of his father's old slaves on his place. Gen. Stoutimere was written up in the Sunday Cincinnati Enquirer once and was compared to Thackeray's aristocratic Major Pen-dennis. He hitched his team at the rack near the ferry float and came through town carrying his buggy whip.

Marcellus Q. Blake was also of the Sunday crowd. A rich farmer from out near Purdy and one of the biggest stockholders in the Tri State Bank. Everybody called him "Mr.

Marcy" and when the older crowd gave their annual ball at Aleshire's Hall he called the dances. It was said that on a still night you could hear his allemande left, swing your lady and do-si-do clear up to Pt. Pleasant, four miles away. "Mr. Marcy" was quite a gadabout and is reputed to have taken in six Sunday excursions in a row and week-ended at Atlantic City and Niagara Falls the same summer. After his Sunday shine he would go over to Miss Melissa Morris's and sit on her front porch while there was talk there might marry, but they never did. Front street said he had to make up his mind about giving up chewing tobacco before Miss Melissa would accept him. He even went to Dwight, Ill., once to take a tobacco cure, but in three months was chewing again.

The shine boys—really middle aged—in our town were men of thrift and respectability. Fleet White, until rheumatism slowed him, was one of the best cooks on the river and could have his choice of jobs. Modock had in his youth been involved in a razing on Dog Ham and was sent to the Columbus pen for a few years, but he lived it down. Doc Black, Fleet White and Modock owned their own little frame homes across the tracks.

Those high chair stands were models of neatness. The blacking boxes flourishing brass bossed and the rags hung just so on the chair rungs. The shiners went to their tasks with vim, and their solo flourish with the whisk broom as the finale—ackety tack, ackety tack, tack—with a toss of the broom in the air to be caught by a hand in the oak as they posted into a low bow is something for historians of changing manners. No one thought of tipping our shine boys. They did not expect it. In fact some of their business was done "on the cuff" and the patrons would settle up every few months.

Sit-Down Strike Is Denounced

Federal Court At Baltimore
Scores Sit-Down Strike
Of Seamen

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Sept. 18.—In one of the most stinging denunciations yet voiced against maritime and sit-down strikes, Federal Judge William C. Coleman today, in ordering 23 striking seamen to vacate the vessel they have been holding, called this type of strike "a form of sabotage."

The seamen, employed by the Kalmair line, a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel corporation, "sat down" in the ship Oakmar here on Sept. 3 in an effort to gain wage increases in the steward's department. They are members of the National Maritime union, an affiliate of the C. I. O.

Brought into federal court on complaint of the Kalmair line to show cause why they should not be forced to leave the Oakmar, the striking seamen were ordered to vacate within two hours, and the U. S. marshal charged with seeing that they did.

It is estimated that the unemployed now number five million of whom 23,462 are able and willing to hold regular jobs.

Y. W. Wants Suggestions From Women And Girls Interested In Classes

Full classes are being planned by the committee chairmen of the Y. W. C. A. Education Department, and they are endeavoring to find out what the women and girls of New Castle want and need.

In other cities gym classes seem to be changed into more interesting games and recreation nights with short health talks on the prevention of typhoid, infantile paralysis and other contagious or infectious diseases and with suggested health diets, etc. Home economic classes change very little as there is always a need to learn how to serve good food more attractively and how to make a home comfortable.

But some of the questions the committee ask themselves are: Should we encourage women and girls to get their Bible teaching in their own churches as there is a need for a Y. W. C. A. class in Bible literature or the teachings of the prophets and of Jesus? Do we want a Y. W. C. A. chorus for young men and women? Do we want a class in French or handicraft? Are there community, national and international needs which we would like to discuss?

The committee feels that there might be women who would like to know more about all these fields, but in order to know more exactly what is needed it is asking that the following coupon be filled in with more explicit requests and mailed, or brought to the Y. W. C. A. or to any member of the committee which is composed of Miss Virginia Duff, chairman; Mrs. James Rhodes, secretary; Mrs. John Elliott, health education; Mrs. William Caldwell, music; Miss Alice Sterling, public affairs (international relations and legislation); Mrs. Paul Butz, home economics; Mrs. Glenn Throop, religious education and Mrs. Blanch Dillard, education chairman for Elm St. branch.

Settlement of the long standing dispute between the county commissioners and Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has finally been made. It follows a court order in which the compensation of the sheriff for keeping prisoners was fixed at 30 cents per day.

It covers a period from Dec. 1, 1935 to August 1, 1937 when the order was made. According to the figures presented by the books of County Controller Frank Hill, the sheriff was paid for 2367 prisoner days at 30 cents per day, or a total of $7101.60. The county had paid out for food and supplies for the jail during that time $2,274.84, and there was a balance due the sheriff of $4,826.76, and bills paid by the sheriff of $3,939.52. Thus the net profit to the sheriff by the thirty cents a day order is shown to be $887.24, over and above his salary of $4500 per year. The controversy which led to the refusal of the county commissioners to pay certain bills started when they objected to the bills for "ham" for the prisoners.

Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds announces that the books in his office will be thrown open again for the registration of voters on Monday, September 20. They will remain open until October 4. Between these two periods all residents of the county who have not registered will be given an opportunity to do so. There will be no registrations taken at the different polling places in the county. All who desire to register must come to the registration bureau at the court house. It is estimated that there are around eight thousand persons who are not registered.

In many districts the success of the registration drive between next Monday, and October 4, will have an important bearing on the general election. It is believed that a large majority of those who are unregistered are Republicans, and it will be up to the Republican county committee and others not registered to get their names on the books.

Democrats will also be active in getting the members of their party to enroll. Lack of interest was shown at the primary when only about sixty per cent of those registered went to the polls. However, it is expected that more interest will be taken in the general election, and that a big vote will likely be polled.

Will of the late Robert J. Totten of New Wilmington has been probated at the register and recorder's office. To his wife, Elizabeth M. Totten, he leaves all his real estate in Pennsylvania, which is located principally in Lawrence county.

To his wife he also leaves all his cemetery lots in Pineview Memorial Park, Tumbler, O., all his lots in Forest Lawn Memorial cemetery in Mahoning county, O., all his lots in Columbian Memorial Park at Columbiana, O.

Four fifths of his personal property he leaves to his wife, and one-fifth to his nieces Daisy Totten and Mary Elizabeth Totten, of Washington township, each one half of the one-fifth, with provisions for the distribution in case of the death of one or the other. His wife, Elizabeth M. Totten is named as executrix. The will was drawn on March 5, 1937. No figures are yet available as to the value of the estate, but it is known to have been quite large.

County Commissioners are preparing to go to Pittsburgh where they will hold a conference with State Highway officials on the matters in controversy over the building of the Edensburg-Hillsville road. The principal point at issue is the erection of an $18,000 bridge which the commissioners believe should be built by the state and not by the county. If a satisfactory agreement is not reached at Pittsburgh the commissioners will take the matter up with the department at Harrisburg.

A. G. Spalding and Brothers have filed an amicable scire facias at the prothonotary's office to revive a judgment against V. Arthur Smith, amounting to $550.61. The obligation is based on a note given on December 20th, 1932 for $615.57.

An amicable scire facias has been issued by McBride and Shannon to revive a judgment against Don F. Dushane for $205.35. Another revival is filed by Barnes and Snyder against Dushane for $134.14.

Attorney Frank Moretta, who recently returned from an European trip was relating some of his experiences to a bunch of attorneys in the law library yesterday. His experiences with custom officials, particularly in re-entering the United States, was interesting. It was shown that it is no easy matter to get past the officials, credentials are checked and rechecked.
